Earth Hour '09

Lights Out for the Planet!!

What Is Earth Hour? On March 28, 2009, 8:30 p.m., millions of people around the world will come together to take a stand to protect our planet against climate change. We will do something quite simple – turn off our lights for just one hour to show that one person can make a difference and millions of people working together can change the world.

Be a WHHNA "transformer"

Working with Clean Energy Durham, we are creating a new model for saving energy and helping neighbors to do the same. It's inspiring to work locally for big, globally significant change!

Here's how it works:

- ☉ Do a door-to-door survey of households on your block (and meet neighbors!)
- ☉ Ask neighbors to keep track of their energy use on an easy-to-use tracking form
- ☉ Contact them once a month to remind them to fill out form and find out about their energy-saving successes
- ☉ Be a liaison between the block and W-B/Clean Energy Durham and bring fun, energy-saving opportunities to your block

ECO NEWS AND PROJECTS

Blowing in the Wind

Did you know that:

- ☉ Dryers use 10-15% of domestic energy in the US
- ☉ You can save $$! (more than $25/month for many households)
- ☉ Clothes and linens smell better :)
- ☉ Indoor racks can humidify in dry winter weather
- ☉ Hanging up clothes is great way to get low impact exercise
